Jeffrey Neumann

As an employee of the company that makes Arches fine art papers, Jeffrey Neumann knows a thing or two about what artists like to paint on. But he's also experienced in the art world as a painter, rendering neon-lit diners and settings smacking of Americana.

"I have spent a great deal of time on the road," Neumann said. "My work is distilled from my unique vision of that experience." He aims to create deeply personal work that reflects the soul of America, and does so through his oil and watercolor paintings of roadside cafés, welcoming hotel signs and blue-collar burger joints.

Educated at the Minneapolis College of Art and Design, Neumann also received a bachelor of science at Springfield College in Art in Urban Life. He now resides in Hillsdale, NY, and can be reached at (518) 325-1020 or jeffnal@taconic.net. His work can be seen on his web site, www.neumannfineart.com.
